Sask Sport has recently expanded its partnership with the Respect Group Inc. to include a Respect in Sport Resource Line. This toll-free service provides bilingual response to calls, texts or emails by expert staff who will guide you to the necessary resources pertaining to:

- child and youth maltreatment
- bullying
- hazing
- national/provincial child and youth protection laws, and
- organization-specific risk management and dispute resolution models.

In the event you are faced with a situation involving maltreatment and are unsure how to proceed, the Respect Resource Line is confidential and anonymous, and available 365 days per year to assist through the below platforms:

Note: This line is not for technical support, but offers a connection to resources to help deal with your situation. For technical assistance (i.e., if you having computer problems with the Respect in Sport modules freezing, or not advancing, etc.) call 1-866-945-9906.

The Respect in Sport Resource Line will replace the previous RespectED/Talk It Out services provided by the Canadian Red Cross. As soon as you are able, we require you to remove all RespectED/Talk It Out information/links/resources from your websites/handouts/posters/etc. and add the Respect in Sport/Kids Help Phone information and visuals provided to promote the Respect in Sport Resource Line information that is on the Sask Sport Respect in Sport webpage. Respect in Sport Resource Line graphics, web boxes and other communications materials are available for your use on the PSGB Resources webpage

One of the most common reasons coaches, managers, and officials, of all ages, cite for leaving sport is unacceptable parent behaviour. The Respect in Sport Parent Program, Canada's only online training and certification program, complements the Respect in Sport for Coaches/Activity Leaders. This program will help define a model of behaviour for all parents and create a more rewarding, safe and respectful environment for everyone involved.

As a follow-up to the 3-year research study conducted by Mount Royal University on the Respect in Sport Parent program, they produced this video. It tells a compelling story!
